

I believe media consolidation is a dangerous thing. The media controls much of what the public sees, therefore thinks and believes. No one company should own too much of what we see, hear, or read. It is basiclly undemocratic.